LOVE CONQUERS
WARRIOR STERN.Lord Kitchener Reported As
Betrothed at Last.India Miss Wins Heart
Deemed Inevitable.Match-Making Mamas Foiled
by "Woman Hater."(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LONDON, July 12.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Military and society circles
heard today that Lord Kitchener,
long regarded as a woman hater, is
to take a wife.The announcement was made
through the London Daily Telegraph
of London, which has been the source of the news.The paper said the field marshal
was engaged to Leonora Matilda, youngest daughter of Lord Douglas Haig, who is the son of the late Lord Haig, who
is several years the junior of her reported fiancée.That the stern "war lord" who quelled the "fascist" rebellion in Egypt, conquered the gallant Boers
in South Africa, and made British arms respected as never before in India, has been known as a woman
hater is due more to designing mam-
mas than to any inherent antipathy
Lord Kitchener ever showed toward
woman herself.LION CHASING.
After his military valor and tactics
made him the hero of Khartoum, and
he came to England, he was approached with popular admiration that amounted almost to worship.Many mothers among the nobility
planned to capture him for their daughters. One countless postponed
the debut of her daughter for no other reason than that Gen. Kitchener might be invited and might see the young woman in the first blush of her entrance to society.DODGES DEBUTANTES.
When Edward VII was King, Queen Alexandra was said to participate in the match-making plans arranged to catch Kitchener. He was selected her favorite lady in waiting for the war
hero's wife, but Gen. Kitchener was too busy with his public duties to do any courting.Nevertheless, at one time or another
he was reported engaged to numerous beauties. The effect of the circulation
of such stories was the opposite of that designed. Gen. Kitchener, instead of being attracted to the young women concerned, deliberately avoided
them, and it was for this reason, as much as for any other, that he was characterized as a woman hater.Onward.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.Is Now Building a Link to Bridge
a Gap of Some Forty Miles to
the Pan-American System of Mexico—Cheapening Rate Than
Those of Barrios Route.(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
GUATEMALA CITY, July 12.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Preparations for the completion of its intercontinental
link which will greatly shorten and
cheapen passenger and freight rates
to Pacific Coast ports, the Guatemala Central Railway has put into effect
a 50 per cent. increase on the passenger rates. The new rate, however,
is very cheap compared to the rate
charged by the line between here and Fort Worth, which is double the Central's present rate.The Guatemala Central controls all
the railroad lines on the Pacific side
of the country and will be the connecting link in the international system which is to join Central and North America. The company is now building the link, bridging a gap
of some forty miles between its international bridge to be built here
over the Suchiate River connecting the Guatemala Central with the Pan-

ama route.

Officials of the company predict its completion within the year. The new line starts from the Port of Las Cruces and runs to Ayutla, on the Mexican boundary line. An international bridge is to be built here
over the Suchiate River connecting the Guatemala Central with the Pan-

ama route.

greatly facilitate California traffic
from Guatemala, passengers being able to use the direct route and arrive much more quickly than via New Orleans, as most of them go at present. Through service for the near future, at least, will be impossible, as
all the Guatemalan lines are narrow-
gauge roads, necessitating a transfer
at the boundary.Completion of the link will have no
effect on the water routes to New Or-

orders are being placed for equipment
and rolling stock and these will be in readiness by January next.

FRANCE RILED BY SPAIN.

Demands Explanation of Alleged Mistreatment of Frenchmen, Residents of Alcazar, Morocco.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PARIS, July 12.—France has asked the French chargé d'affaires
at Madrid to request the Spanish
government to furnish explanation
of the mistreatment of two French-
men by Spanish troops at Alcazar, Morocco. The Frenchmen, who arrived in France last week, were relieved of their revolvers, on the ground that they had violated a decree of the Spanish forces occupying
the town, which prohibited the carrying of weapons.The French press has turned its attention from the Franco-Moroccan controversy to the Spanish attitude
and declares that France will no longer accept the "provocations" from Spain which were inaugurated by
the execution of her military operations in northern Morocco.CHARGE PLUNG BACK.
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MADRID, July 12.—Spanish advocates from Alcazar say that the incident being inquired into was exaggerated by France whose merchants were being mistreated. The imperial makes a violent attack up-
on France, charging that France's
agents are trying to provoke a grave
conflict at Alcazar. "France," he says, "is trying to charge a
mine, the explosion of which is apparently being caused by enormous consequences."

Christian Endeavorers Adjourn

quarters in Boston.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) July 12.—
The twenty-fifth annual Christian Endeavor convention came to an end
tonight. The final scene took place
in the two auditoriums on the Million Dollar Pier, where enthusiastic rallies were held.The last work was the pledging of
the balance of the $25,000 needed to complete the fund for the building
of the national headquarters in Boston.The next convention will be held in Los Angeles in 1913.

Ensign of the Navy Disappears After Writing that He Intended to Drown Himself.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Ensign
R. S. Young, Jr., of Concord, N. H.,
disappeared from the battleship
Perkins at New York navy yard
last night, leaving a note that he intended to drown himself.

INQUIRY INTO HIS CONDITION.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Two weeks
ago Ensign Young was absent five days without leave and on his return
Capt. Pringle sent him to the ward-room. An inquiry into his conduct was to have started today.

Twelve Counts.

S. LOUIS (Mo.) July 12.—E. G.
Lewis, until recently publisher of the "Missouri State," was indicted by a special grand jury in the United States District Court today on charges of fraudulent use of the mails.The indictment, containing twelve
counts, covers four propositions alleged to have been obtained: several millions dollars by misleading
statements, circulated through the mails.It is charged that Lewis, through misrepresentation with intent to defraud, sold unsecured notes on the Woman's National Daily building, and
the Woman's National Daily building
in University City, of which Lewis is major, unsecured notes of the University Heights Realty and Development company, operated a "debenture
scheme" and thereby obtained several millions of dollars.The government's investigation has been in progress for the last year.
Lewis recently put his corporation
in liquidation and transferred his sole power to handle them for five years, when it was stipulated heshould receive them back without indebtedness. Creditors have attacked the District Attorney of believing by asking that a receiver be appointed.Lewis was indicted in 1905 on charges of conducting schemes to defraud through his operation of the People's United States Bank, one of his corporations. Other indictments
charged him with defrauding the government of postal funds by sending
through the mails a greater number
of sample copies of his publications
than the law permitted. He was acquitted on several of these charges and all were withdrawn at a late date.Eugene B. Stinde, one of the grand jurors, when the grand jury reported
and before the court could interfere,
accused the District Attorney of being prejudiced and talking with each juror individually. Judge Treiber replied that Stinde's statement was not
a proper one and that if a member of the grand jury wanted to make a speech he should raise a hand.It is charged in the indictment that by the debenture plans, Lewis endeavored to recover in exchange for
long time debenture papers, securities
of his different companies and obligations, most of which were due at
early dates, amounting to $7,160,000.
Lewis appeared in the Federal building's office this afternoon and gave $5000 bond.

THE PREVARICATIONS OF TRICKY TOBE.

Notwithstanding repeated exposures, Tricky Tobe of the Morning Wall
continues to forge prevarications concerning an alleged "conspiracy" of The Times. As a conscienceless, persistent and indefatigable liar, Tricky Tobe towers above Ananias, Baron Munchausen and Mendes Pinto, even as Mount Shasta towers above a hole in the ground.It is a lie that the Herald has been killed off. It is a lie that The Times has conspired against Tricky Tobe to prevent the circulation of the Morning Wall by boycott or picket. The Times does not, as Tricky Tobe suggests, own a controlling interest or any interest in either the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe, or the Salt Lake railroads. For years it has chartered trains for the purpose of making an early distribution of its circulation. Tricky Tobe can obtain at any time exactly the same facilities from the railroad companies that The Times enjoys by depositing his bank account to the extent of paying for them. He has no more right, legal or moral, to demand a share of the transportation facilities of The Times than he has a right to be allowed to share in the Associated Press dispatches.The circulation system of The Times has been built up by years of effort, and at some cost. It is very complete. It is, in the nature of things, exclusive. An agent of The Times would no more be expected to perform similar duties for another morning journal than a commercial traveler for another mercantile establishment would be expected to solicit orders for another agency engaged in the same line of business. If any agent shall choose to resign his agency with The Times and accept that of the Morning Wall instead, The Times will simply let him go and employ another agent in his place.The statement that The Times has endeavored to intimidate newsboys is another lie of Tricky Tobe. The boy would have to sell five times as many Walls as he would copies of The Times to make the same money. He knows that, and, as yet, there has been no rush of Times-vending newsboys to the office of the Wall. There are many boys in Los Angeles who vend newspapers. Why does not Tricky Tobe make it an object to such youths to sell his paper by giving it to them free? He will obtain quite as large a circulation in that way as by distributing it on the laws of unoccupied bungalows in the suburbs.All the columns and columns of dust which the Express and the Morning Wall are kicking up are vainly intended to deceive the public and to enable Earl to make a few pennies from the trick. It is all a cheap, silly game. It is of the same stripe as Earl's criminal campaign of misrepresentation against the Herald, larcenously and villainously trying to steal its business by falsely reporting day after day that the Herald was to suspend publication July 1.The facts, the indisputable facts, the self-evident facts are:
1. The Herald is still issued every morning.
2. Earl's Morning Wall is an ice-cream and refuses to circulate. The people will have none of it. Hence these tears.3. The Times is not "conspiring" in any way to do aught but keep larcenous hands off its own.
4. The Times is not interfering with nor concerning itself about the distribution of the Morning Wall.5. But The Times is successfully protecting its own circulation, its own organization and its own facilities. Tricky Tobe would have the people believe that his little sheet is in some manner entitled to ride on The Times'
trains and automobiles and to enjoy all the advantages of the circulation system which The Times has laboriously built up during these twenty-five years.
Such a proposition is so preposterous that it needs no overturning. It will not stand on its legs for a second.6. No, Tobias, you cannot have The Times' agents, The Times' carriers, The Times' boys, The Times' trains or The Times' automobiles. Get your
own. And remember the injunction:
"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."The day will come, Tobias, when you will wish you had heeded that commandment.

School in Berkeley Because He Thought He Could Employ the Time to Better Advantage—Inside Facts About the Pension and Durham Fund.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BERKELEY (Cal.) July 12.—Douglas Keith, principal of the California Institution for the Deaf,
Dumb and Blind, was testified
in his own behalf in the inquiry into
the charges of mismanagement and inefficiency against him here today.Keith, who has been principal of the institution since 1904, declared that his appointment was illegal because he had not, at the time of his installation as principal, taught the required
three years, he declared he had taught both deaf and blind for a period of seven years previous to his appointment. He admitted he had not taught regular classes, but he had been detailed to teach the blind, for a period of three months, and he had taught deaf boys, who were behind
in their classes, for several years,
outside the class rooms.Some rumor was aroused when Atty. Reed asked if Keith's duties
prior to his appointment as principal
of the institution, who has taken part
in the investigation of the Camorra
organization, he described minutely
the methods followed in this investigation and said that the newspaper
had been of great assistance especially a Rome paper, which was then
edited by Alessandro Lajo, one of the
lawyers for the defense, and showed
a wonderful knowledge of what was going on among the Camorristi.Later, when the Camorristi were
arrested, this paper had asserted that
the carabinieri had manufactured a
case against them, whereas the carab-
inieri had acted following a denun-
ciation of the Camorra which had
appeared in that paper.

TOPPLES, DYING, INTO WATER.

Well Known Pioneer of Eastern

While Bathing at Chico Springs.(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LIVINGSTON (Mont.) July 12.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) While bathing
in the plunge at Chico Springs near
here last evening, Thomas Churchill,
aged 76, one of the best known pioneers of Eastern Montana, succumbed to an attack of apoplexy. When he died, he had held one of the ropes
that surrounded the water's edge, but
death loosened his grasp, and he fell headlong into the water, gasping the words, "I am going to die."

the Judicial Recall.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Senator
Nelson today introduced an amendment to the New Mexico Admission Statehood resolution, asking for the immediate admission of New Mexico
as a State, but requiring the people
of Arizona to vote again on the proposed "recall of judges" in its new constitution.The amendment is in line with the minority views of the Senate Committee on Territories.

FARIA BLAMES MATES.

to the Centralia during the morning

Faria replied that he would still have had doubts whether he could have made the transfer without the small boats capsizing. He admitted that the message from the officers
received at 10:30 in the morning
while the sea was calm. The ship did not begin to break up, he testified,
until the afternoon. Meantime he thought that there would be no
trouble in floating the Santa Rosa at high tide.Asked point blank whether he had relied solely on his own judgment, he
was influenced by the company's mes-

to Ask Caution.Political Activities of Order Fully Described.Violence and Bribery Used to Influence Elections.(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
VITERBO (Italy) July 12.—Capt.
Fabroni, who, if not the star witness
for the crown, has at least made the accused Camorristi more uncomfortable than they have been made at
any other period of the trial, went deep into the political influence of the Camorra today, and mentioned
names with a boldness that caused the
judge to caution him to be moderate
in his statements.Fabroni, in the guise of a clerk of the Minister of Justice, devoted years
to learning the alleged connection between the Camorra and the Neapolitan
Judiciary.Along this line he said in substance:
"The Camorristi have no political ideals. He exploits the electors and the electors for gain. The leaders distribute hands throughout the town
and they have recourse to violence to obtain the vote of the electors for the candidates whom they have determined to support. Those who refuse
to vote as instructed are beaten,
slashed with knives or kidnapped. All this is done with assurance of immunity, as they will have the protection of successful politicians, who realize that they cannot be chosen to
office without paying toll to the Cam-
orra."

MENTION NAMES.

Fabroni said he had in mind former Deputy Gargallo and Count Ra-
vaichieri."The latter," he continued, "in 1904
hired the Camorra, which at that time
surpassed all precedents in corruption,
abuses and crimes. During the election
of Ravaschieri, Enrico Alfano, Cleo-Vitozzi, the priest, and Giovanni Papi
promenaded the streets of Naples
wearing large tricolors, and, as masters of the town, ordered all kinds
of lawlessness to obtain their object."The Camorra was then at the zenith of its power, but within it two factions were fighting secretly, but ferociously, for control of the criminal body. Enrico Alfano, because of recent electoral successes, was in the ascendancy, and the influence of Ge-
naro Cuccolo, who had been the star-
ling receiver of stolen goods, was waning.

MURDER NECESSARY.

Alfano wished to establish an undisputed empire with Papi, Vitozzi and Ferdinando Di Matteo as his lieutenants. The murder of Cuccolo was necessary, as he interfered with the
gains of others who were in a hurry
to make a fortune. Alfano trusted in his immunity from arrest.The detective described special branches of the Camorra among the harbor workers in the town near Naples. There was a branch, he said, at Castellammare, of which the leaders
were Giuseppe Chirico, Alberto Frau-
nmento, Pasquale Gargallo and Ferdinando Di Matteo. All these are among the defendants. Chirico, he said, received $20 a month as a tax on the Cam-
orra, which was still paid him, although he was a prisoner. The sisters of Vitozzi made monthly collections of
dues from the Camorristi for Chirico
and the other prisoners.

VIOLENT ERUPTION.

The lawyers for the defense attempted to create an incident that
would result in interrupting the witness, but when the prisoners began a disturbance the president stopped it
by threatening Papi, the most turbulent with removal from the courtroom.Another storm incident between Capt. Fabroni and the lawyers for the defense caused Ericcione, in a fierce rage, to shake the bars like a madman. He pointed at Fabroni and shouted: "Murderer, you were the cause of my brother's death in prison."In his testimony Fabroni gave great praise to Marshal Capizutti of
the Judiciary, who has taken part
in the investigation of the Camorra
organization. He described minutely
the methods followed in this investi-
gation and said that the newspaper
had been of great assistance espe-
cially a Rome paper, which was then
edited by Alessandro Lajo, one of the
lawyers for the defense, and showed
a wonderful knowledge of what was
going on among the Camorristi.Later, when the Camorristi were
arrested, this paper had asserted that
the carabinieri had manufactured a
case against them, whereas the carab-
inieri had acted following a denun-
ciation of the Camorra which had
appeared in that paper.

ANNUAL PENSION.

George W. Reed, president of the board of directors, said former Principal Wilkinson was not present when
the pension of $2000 a year was discussed by the board. As to Keith's qualifications, Reed did not go into detail, but he meant to say that he had taught the deaf and dumb outside the institution.Reed thought the legal requirements had been fulfilled by Keith
after hours and outside of class rooms. Reed was unable to announce the expenditures from the Durham fund from the biennial report of the directors, but said this information was not given because it
never had been required by the administration. He said the Durham
fund was now somewhere between $50,000 and $70,000 and its income for the year ended December 31, 1910,
was $234.88 all of which had been expended in Wilkinson's $2000 pension and in salaries.In keeping the passengers on the Santa Rosa, Capt. Faria's reply was a flat "yes."Thomas verified Faria's statement
that the companies were true and the ship steering well. He said Hewson
had not told him to arouse the captain at 1 o'clock or at passing the President. He said he did not see the President's lights at all, but reported
the Yale at 1:45, following a standing order.The light reported just preceding
the accident burned brightly and
clearly, just like that of Point Ar-
guello, he said, and he so reported it.
The only possible explanation he
could offer for the ship getting off
course was the theory of a strong in-
shore current.Inspector Bulger asked the company's officials to produce the wire-
less message sent to the ship.

HOKE SMITH ELECTED SENATOR.

Georgia Governor Wins by Two to One Vote and Then Sues—Political Fight Brewing.

ATLANTA (Ga.) July 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hoke Smith, inaugurated as Governor of Georgia this day, was today elected to the United States Senate, by a vote of 155 to 140.

Smith's election to fill the four years unexpired term of the late Senator Hoke Smith, has caused a sensation in Georgia. If Gov. Smith accepts the position as Senator, it leaves a vacancy in the gubernatorial office and ex-Gov. Joseph M. Brown, recently defeated by Gov. Smith, has practically announced he will again run for Governor. He will be opposed by friends of Smith and the gubernatorial primary will be a very contest.

Gov. Smith has not yet decided whether he will accept the Senatorial chair. It is rumored tonight that he may think the general assembly for the handling of his case and the election, rather than see the State thrown into a turmoil over the gubernatorial campaign. The impression is, however, that Smith will accept the Senatorship but will remain as Governor until the regular session of Congress, after which he will resign and legislation which he thinks is needed.

The General Assembly asked Gov. Hoke Smith to make an address. The Governor complied, but while he was speaking he was hissed by friends of the defeated candidate.

With the completion of the jury, the actual trial of Dr. L. C. Chisholm, charged with the murder of John D. Powell, began here today. In his opening statement, Dist.-Atty. Clarence Lea briefly outlined the case of the State.

He said the prosecution expected to prove that Powell was murdered by Chisholm in a tent on the ocean shore between Timber Cove and Fort Ross on March 9 of this year. It would be proved, he declared, that early in 1907 Chisholm went to an insurance office in Sacramento and stated that he wished to procure a policy for John D. Powell, whom he said was a farmer and could not come to the city. Being told that a policy could not be obtained by proxy, he went to Stockton the next day, represented himself as John D. Powell, was examined by a physician, and under that name, obtained a policy payable to Elsie Putnam.

Later on, said the District Attorney, Chisholm was introduced to a young woman with whom he became infatuated. He had the policy transferred so as to be payable to her, and then on paid the premiums himself.

The prosecution would show, concluded the District Attorney, that Chisholm and Powell met together in Sonoma county and camped in the tent near Fort Ross, where Powell was killed by Chisholm, the crime constituting murder in the first degree, as would be proven by the testimony of Blanche Powell and others.

The first witness called was Herman Bryer, who testified to seeing Chisholm and Powell early this year at a general merchandise store at Dunsmuir, where they purchased some supplies.

George H. Call of Fort Ross, whose ground the men pitched tent, and P. E. Robertson, superintendent of the Markham's lumber in Sonoma county, were examined said he talked with Chisholm tent.

Robertson testified that Chisholm and Powell stopped in a cabin around, en route for Fort Ross.

"The men were around the several days," said Robertson, "I am sure that I am not mistaking identifying Chisholm. He told me name was Roy Howard, and his companion was John D. Powell."

Robertson identified the Powell after it was found.

The dead man's skull was produced in court by Witson Smith, a Ross undertaker. Bullet holes pointed out on the jury.

Blanche Powell, the reputed wife of the murdered man, will be called a witness.

They Don't Want to be Counted—Census Enumerators—Canadian Officials Will Enforce the Law.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NELSON (B. C.) July 12.—More than one thousand Doukhobors, members of a colony at Brilliant, Lower Arrow, have refused to go against the census taking, refusing to be counted. John Pinn, leader of the colony, has written everything in his power to persuade the colonists to submit, and they been threatened with arrest, as well. The census commissioners asked the authorities in Ottawa instructions.

BOYLE HEIGHTS FIEND IDENTIFIED BY VICTIMS.

Arrest of Shipping Clerk at Early Morning Hour for Behaving in Indecent Manner Leads Police to Investigate and Connects Him. They Say, With Reign of Terror—Is Picked Out by Girls from Other Prisoners.

It was announced by the police last night that the Boyle Heights fiend had been captured and positively identified by two of his victims.

The prisoner gave his name as J. J. Burt, a shipping clerk, employed by the Western Furniture Company, No. 1200 North Main street. He had been arrested on a charge of indecent exposure, but denied that he is the man wanted for having outraged women in Boyle Heights and other parts of the city, although he did not deny having insulted women.

Burt was arrested at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman W. C. Allen of the East Side Station, on complaint of Mrs. A. Durany of No. 1211 Durany court and Mrs. H. J. Washington of No. 1213 Mount street. They told the officer that a man was acting in an offensive manner in front of Mrs. Becker's home. On the afternoon of the previous night, Burt attempted to escape, but was halted when the officer drew his revolver.

At that time, Burt was taken to the police station, where he was held for a few days. He was then released, but was picked out by the girls from other prisoners.

Merry Club Members Stir Things at Venice.

The Gamut Club, with members of the Venice Orpheus and Lyric Clubs, and their wives and friends, invaded Venice last night to the number of 500 and took possession of everything in sight, from the rustic gondolas which graced the placid waters of the lagoon, to the bump-the-bumps, that amusement feature of the Strand, where dignity gives way to blottches of joy, intermingled with a more or less physical discomfort. A special train was provided for them.

Experts Trying to Determine Exact Condition of Finances of Pettit and the Peavey Firm.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, July 12.—Experts acting as a committee of Chicago bankers today began an inspection of the books and accounts of the Peavey Grain Company, in an effort to determine the exact condition of the Board of Trade firm's finances. Late developments seem to indicate the losses of the concern may reach $1,500,000, but that cannot be accurately determined until an audit has been completed. It is expected the work will take a week or more.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES ALARM.

Crown City People Fear Work of Firebug.

Theta Girls View Rally from Moonlit Mountain.

Unknown Man Badly Hurt Falling from Car.

Times of The Times, N. S. Raymond Avenue.

PASADENA, July 13.—Two fires which occurred in North Pasadena yesterday afternoon and last night so excited the citizens of that part of the city, in which reports originated that a firebug was at work, that they considered the advisability of establishing a watch to protect their property through the night. The police are making an investigation.

The first fire occurred between 6 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, when the roof was burned from the barn of J. W. Mead, situated in North Pasadena at the intersection of the main road and the road to the north. The fire was away from the barn at the time, but the police received reports from residents of the neighborhood that a strange man was seen entering the building a short time before the flames broke out.

The damage to the barn did not amount to more than $100 and was covered by insurance.

Flames again broke out at 3:45 o'clock, this time in the barn of a man by the name of Webster, who lives at the corner of Flower street and Starfield avenue. The fire was discovered as soon after it started that it was distinguished without the necessity of calling the fire department. Again it was reported by neighbors that a strange man was seen emerging from the place shortly before the fire occurred.

Reports were received by the police and two officers were requested to make an investigation.

"I will not," said Mead, last night, "that the fire which damaged my barn was of incendiary origin because I do not know who was away at the time and did not return until it was all over. Some of the neighbors say that a man was seen to enter the place."

"People in this part of the city are greatly excited and are considering establishing a watch tonight. I don't know whether they will do so or not, but I am not going to keep watch. I am going to bed."

ON MOUNTAIN TOP.

San Gabriel Valley by moonlight was the sight which greeted the visitors to the Kappa Alpha Theta girls last night. The party left at the Hotel Maryland at 9 o'clock in the evening for Mt. San Antonio, where an enjoyable hour on the summit.

Yesterday morning was given over to business, entirely. This morning, too, will be devoted to the same session. This afternoon the delegates will go to Los Angeles, where they will be met at the city hall by a depot by automobile and taken to the homes of several members of the Los Angeles chapter, where refreshments will be served.

Tonight's entertainment will be a "stunt" party at the Hotel Maryland. This will be in charge of the Los Angeles chapter of San Francisco, and some pleasant surprises are in store.

FATAL FIGHT.

An unidentified man about 35 years of age, is lying in a critical condition at the Pasadena Hospital as the result of a fall from a lamppost on last night. The man was on Colorado avenue near the site of the proposed polytechnic high school.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and at a late hour last night had not recovered consciousness. Nothing was found of his person from which his identity could be learned.

KNOWN FOR CHARITIES.

Mrs. Julia Sprague Barnum, who resided for many years at the corner of South Orange and Broadway, died yesterday at the age of 61 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Valentine, in Alhambra. She had been a resident of California for thirty years and during the past ten years she has made her home in this city. She gave much time and money to various philanthropic enterprises. She was also a member of the Valley Forge Club.

She leaves another daughter, Mrs. John K. Urmon, and a son, Harry Robinson, who is now on his way to Pasadena. Mrs. Robinson was born in North Bridgewater, Mass. She came to Los Angeles in 1880 and was married to Mr. Robinson about ten years ago and she later had a son, Mr. E. T. Barnum of New York. He died five years ago and since then Mrs. Barnum has spent a great deal of her time abroad.

Her charities extend throughout Southern California and she has many intimate friends in Pasadena. Funeral arrangements will not be made until her son arrives.

ESCAPES HOLD-UP.

An attempted hold-up last Tuesday night took an queer turn as have some of the burglaries committed in the city recently, and the police are inclined to think that the same man is responsible for both.

W. Schillinger, who lives at No. 283 Brooklyn avenue, was returning to his home about 9 o'clock, when he was accosted by a tall man, smooth-shaven, with black hair and wearing a cap and a light sweater, who reached for him as he attempted to pass.

Schillinger was too quick for the footpad and escaped by running.

WATER MEETING.

The Water Committee of the Pasadena Board of Trade will meet tomorrow night at the Board of Trade rooms, with Mayor Thum, who will then report what was accomplished at the conference with audited officials in Los Angeles last Tuesday afternoon. This evening the committee will meet for a month, and there are several matters to be considered at this time.

With the information he possesses, Mayor Thum yesterday stated that he is confident Pasadena can secure water from Los Angeles at a fair rate.

The Water Commissioners at Los Angeles, the Mayor says, would give no definite promise to supply the city of the Tehuana watershed, but said they believed some plan can be worked out.

that will be satisfactory to both cities.

NEWS BRIEVES.

Mrs. Henry Combacker of Ocoela, Wis., and Miss Marian Colegrove of Cedar Falls, Iowa, who have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ridley, of No. 1079 North Marengo avenue, have returned to their homes.

Kirmess week in Santa Barbara is proving attractive to many society people of Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Tiedt attended the soiree there last Monday night, and a number are intending to go to Santa Barbara to attend the masquerade which is to mark the close of the kirmess.

The Browning Club will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ashcroft, No. 181 South Lake avenue. Plans for a midsummer outing will be discussed.

The fall flower show will this year be held October 24 to 28. These shows have been delightfully decided upon by those who have the arrangements in hand. It is announced also that it will probably take place at the Hotel Maryland.

Indications are that the show will be the best flower show ever given in the city. The committee has a fine collection of chrysanthemums, dahlias, roses and carnations.

Robert Allen, Mayor Thum's secretary, yesterday visited the north-west part of the city what is known as the "dry tract," and investigated the situation. He was accompanied by a committee to employ a certified accountant to investigate all past acts of the old school board in connection with the regular summer vacations of the old school board.

This investigation comes as the aftermath of a hot political fight waged in the school district at the annual May election. The board had been accused by the choice of a site for the polytechnic school, and charges were made that there had been an attempt to secure a more important matter to the credit of the old board.

The charges undoubtedly affected the election and resulted in the defeat of the old board, who at once demanded a full investigation and complete vindication of the charges were found unfounded.

The board for some reason refused to take up the matter the time, alleging a series of more important matters. But one member of the old board, Rominger, is on the present board.

BOARD'S ACTS TO BE PROBED.

Long Beach Officials Order a Searching Inquiry.

Charges of Irregularity Had Effort on Election.

Romantic Story Work of Clever Press Agent.

LONG BEACH, July 12.—Having taken its own time in answering the request of the board of directors to investigate charges made of malfeasance while in office, the present school board last night adopted a resolution appointing President Haskell and members Butler and Wilson a committee to employ a certified accountant to investigate all past acts of the old school board in connection with the regular summer vacations of the old school board.

This investigation comes as the aftermath of a hot political fight waged in the school district at the annual May election. The board had been accused by the choice of a site for the polytechnic school, and charges were made that there had been an attempt to secure a more important matter to the credit of the old board.

The charges undoubtedly affected the election and resulted in the defeat of the old board, who at once demanded a full investigation and complete vindication of the charges were found unfounded.

The board for some reason refused to take up the matter the time, alleging a series of more important matters. But one member of the old board, Rominger, is on the present board.

LIGHTING CONTRACT AWARDED.

Pomona City Council Makes Deal With Edison Company for the Next Five Years.

Pomona, July 12.—The City Council has awarded the contract for lighting Pomona for a period of five years to the Southern California Edison Company, on the following terms:

Gasoline light on poles, 100 watts; schedule $5 per month; arc lamps, $6.75 per month; tungsten incandescent lamps, $1 per lamp per month.

Ganessa Park will be lighted at a cost of $100,000. The property owners on Holt avenue and side streets west of Hamilton avenue have petitioned the Council to put in proper condition these streets.

At the Council meeting yesterday, Mayor H. W. Balfour, C. E. Anderson, Dr. K. E. Smith and Dr. T. Wilson. The latter will act as health officer.

POSTAL RECEIPTS.

Postmaster Walter M. Alms reports that the first half of 1911 has brought in $370.61 or 14 per cent, the annual receipts for June 30, 1911, being $50,541.61, as compared with $45,000 for the same period in 1910. Postmaster Alms has completed the redistribution of the regular summer vacations of the numerous carriers. The business of the postoffice continues constantly increasing and the steady growth of Pomona and environs.

WILL RESUME TRAFFIC
August 1 is the date set for the resumption of traffic on the Inter-California Railroad, the line that was put out of commission by the occupation of Mexican and contiguous territory by the insurgents. The burned and dynamited bridges will be rebuilt within a few days, and the telegraph line has been repaired. The office of the company, which was moved over to Calexico when the insurgents occupied the Mexican coast, will be placed in charge of a competent staff and will be opened next week.

WITNESS WEDDING
The Imperial County Supervisors were guests at an unexpected wedding yesterday. Justice Franklin has his office in the same room used by the Supervisors, and yesterday afternoon, a negro couple, Lee Manning Hunter and Thelma McDonald, presented themselves to have the marriage ceremony performed. The board suspended business and acted as witnesses while Justice Franklin read the marriage vows, and the bride and groom had the satisfaction and honor of securing the signatures of all the members of the board of their marriage certificate.

WOMAN'S HARSH EXPERIENCE
Upland Woman on Board Boat Sues Her Husband.
UPLAND, July 12.—Mrs. Katie Sommers, a meek, quiet-spoken, brown-eyed little German woman, accompanied by her two little boys, one 2 years of age, the other a baby of seven weeks, is in Upland, where she is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Anna Fuchler, on C street. Mrs. Sommers and her babies were passengers on the ill-fated Santa Rosa, which was wrecked near Santa Barbara, a few days ago, and she tells a harrowing tale of her experiences in that trying time. Her husband is employed in the meat business in the North, and she was making the trip to the South with her babies alone.

is particularly free from pests, destructive diseases and insects, prevalent in many sections. Schmidt reports the experimental vineyard at Ojai to be in fine condition.

The Italian Vineyard Company, owners of the 5000-acre vineyard, largest in the world, to the east of the city, are already making preparations to handle the enormous crop. Their huge winery is, perhaps, the most completely equipped in the country. The vineyard company is made up of all the best of wealthy Italians, and Secondo Guasti of Los Angeles is president.

The company is now engaged in laying several additional miles of narrow-gauge railroad track in their vineyards to the east, for the purpose of carrying the grapes from the vines to the huge crushers. Owing to the condition of the soil, which is loose and sandy, it is difficult to drive a heavy team over it, and by means of the railway, the cost of carting the grapes to the factory is reduced to a minimum.

During the grape season this big concern employs hundreds of hands. Practically all the grapes are here in built up about the large winery a small city.

NOTABLE CASE
The case of Emma J. Diamond against Mary E. Smith-McConnell, over property in this city belonging to the late George H. Stover, a former husband of Mrs. Diamond and brother of Mrs. Smith-McConnell, has been remanded back to the Township Court of Ontario for retrial.

The case has been attracting public attention for some months, and has been marked by many twists. The case was recently tried in the Superior Court and decision rendered in favor of Mrs. Diamond, together with $75 damages.

Following this decision, Mrs. Smith-McConnell, through her attorneys, at once moved for a new trial, which has just been granted. When the case was first made public, Mrs. Smith-McConnell made some derogatory charges against Mrs. Diamond, which she was later obliged to rescind.

Mrs. Diamond has been prominent in the public gaze before, having last summer been complaining witness in a damage suit against an eastern railway, for alleged damages received by her when she was ejected bodily and otherwise manhandled by the crew of a certain train belonging to the company.

COURAGE COMMENDED
C. L. Sweeten, operator for the Southern Pacific in this city today received a personal letter of commendation from Superintendent W. H. Whalen of Los Angeles, head of this division of the Southern Pacific, for a recent act of courage performed by him in the company's interest.

Recently when a fast freight was passing by the depot, Sweeten noticed that a brake beam on one of the cars was dragging and notwithstanding the fact that the train was moving at twenty miles per hour, he more jumped it and informed the crew of the condition of the car, which was fixed and a wreck averted.

SANTA ANA.
MEMBERSHIP CARD IS GOOD.
SANTA ANA JUSTICE ACCEPTS ANGELENO WOMAN'S EXCUSE.
Arrested for Speeding She Left Club Credentials, But a Subsequent Notice Failed to Reach Her and the Court Was Slightly Ruffled—Town Wants a Charter.

SANTA ANA, July 12.—Justice Cox's court was a clearinghouse for explanations this morning, and when all the explanations were in, Mrs. Frances A. Copp, a wealthy Los Angeles woman, paid a fine of $15 and went away smiling.

On June 25, Mrs. Copp was riding on one of the roads of this county in her new car, when she struck the chauffeur was putting along at the rate of about thirty-five miles an hour when Motorcycle Officers Peters and Davenport nabbed them. Mrs. Copp gave them her card in her Southern California Automobile Club, as she told the officers to notify her when to appear, and they said they would. Retaining notes, Mrs. Copp did not appear. The membership card did not give her address. So Justice Cox sent her to the Southern California Automobile Club and demanded $10 in bail, since the card had not brought the holder to his court. The club's attorneys, Knorr & Reed, had the card was good for bail, and that the club secretary would notify Mrs. Copp to appear. That the secretary failed to do so, and when Mrs. Copp failed to appear Justice Cox sent Constable Squires after her. This morning Mrs. Copp arrived here, accompanied by her attorney, and was followed by an attorney and the secretary of the club, who were chiefly concerned lest the Santa Ana justice hereafter refuse to accept a club card as bail, which he had threatened to do.

The case was tried in the courtroom, and no doubt about it, and the ordinary fine of $10 for speeding would doubtless have been far exceeded had it not been for the explanations. Mrs. Copp showed that she had been patiently waiting for notice and got none. The club secretary stated that notice had not been given Mrs. Copp because the time of trial was not known. It was a mistake all around Justice Cox made the fine $15, and will continue to accept the membership card as bail.

ONE CASE DISMISSED.
Another case of speeding was dismissed. W. M. Smith was the defendant. He said he was goaded into exceeding the speed limit, if he exceeded it, by the behavior of the motorcycle officers. He said they got on the windward side of him and for a mile gave him their dust. In order to get out of the dust he tried to pass the motorcycles, and in so doing got on too much speed.

Smith, however, was fined $10 for failing to carry a red light at the rear of his automobile at night. Gen. F. H. Case, president of the Southern California Sugar Company, was fined $10 for the same reason.

A mass meeting of citizens is to be held next Wednesday night at the Armory, for the purpose of discussing the starting of a movement to secure for Santa Ana a charter or commission form of government. Santa Ana is the only city in the general laws of the State as a city of the fifth class.

According to the annual report of the State Board of Education, Santa Ana last night, there were 2007 children attending in the Santa Ana schools in the year 1914, divided as follows: Kindergarten, 160; primary and grammar, 1504; high school, 418.

DOCTOR FLEES FROM COLTON.
Resigns as Fire Chief and Leaves City With Young Woman, With Whom He Has Lived.
COLTON, July 12.—The Colton Fire Department, at a called meeting last night, received and accepted the resignation of Dr. R. C. Howe as chief. The resignation was presented by Dr. Raymond Luddere. A. W. U'ren was elected to fill the vacancy; C. M. Mathews was elected assistant chief, and Charles McArthur, assistant foreman of hose cart. Dr. Howe's sudden departure has also left vacant the position of physician for the cement company. Shortly after Dr. Howe's arrival in this city several years ago, stories were circulated intimating that the woman posing as Mrs. Howe was not his wife, but that he had deserted a wife in San Francisco, from whom he was not divorced. These stories were considered merely rumors, until last week, when, under fire, Dr. Howe suddenly left town, accompanied by his companion, and after 9 months-old son. Drink is said to have caused the physician's downfall.

NEWS BRIEFS.
L. B. Penbrooke and J. D. Ballard, two Riverside boys, were each fined $5 for disorderly conduct this morning by Justice Hanna in the Recorder's Court.

Meyer Solomon, a dry-goods merchant of this city, passed away of tuberculosis, Monday evening, at a sanatorium at Monrovia. The funeral services will be held at Los Angeles. Mr. Solomon was a member of the Masonic order, Odd Fellows and Foresters' lodges.

Just Why You Should buy Lots at Hermosa Beach

Hermosa Beach answers ALL Questions

Why should you buy Real Estate?
Because Real Estate is the investment for the sensible, conservative man, and has always proven to be the investment for the man who "came out ahead in the long run."

Why buy Beach Property?
Because there is practically an unlimited amount of Real Estate for sale around Los Angeles, but only a limited amount of Beach property.

Why buy at Hermosa Beach?
Because HERMOSA BEACH offers you property fronting on the ocean, with the most progressive town, with the most sanitary conditions, at prices that make every purchase a bargain.

How are these Streets Superior?
Because though a great deal was recently made about Wilshire Boulevard residents not considering anything but "Warrentite" good enough for the pavement for Wilshire Boulevard, HERMOSA BEACH beat them to it. We have "Warrentite" on our streets, and have more asphalted and macadamized streets in HERMOSA BEACH than you can find in any town of the same size in the United States.

Why call this a Progressive Town?
Because HERMOSA BEACH is ahead and is LOOKING ahead. It is beautifully laid out on a gentle rise, each house overlooking the other and having a clear view of the ocean. It is on the Pacific Electric R. R. and the Santa Fe R. R. It has a splendid automobile road. It reserves its ocean frontage for park purposes pure and simple—no Midway. It has just decided on an unsurpassed 22-ft. concrete ocean promenade. Everything at HERMOSA BEACH is strictly up-to-the-minute.

been flowing at the rate of about twenty barrels of green oil daily since the production is being run into two 150-barrel storage tanks and another 500-barrel tank is being built. Superintendent Thompson sent ten gallons of the oil to the refinery today and expects a favorable report within a few days. The derrick on well No. 3 is being rigged up and will be spudded in in a few days.

The Spokane Coalinga, which is operating a short distance from the Berkeley Coalinga, is down 100 feet in open hole.

Well No. 1 of the W. K. Oil Company on section 2, 20.13, is being rigged up and will be spudded in in a few days. The W. K. is planning on new development in the near future.

The Mohawk No. 1 is being re-drilled after some little trouble which necessitated the pulling of the last string of casing. The well will be back on the producing list in a few days.

Well No. 4 is drilling at 2950 feet. The water was shut off in the eight-inch casing in this well at 2933 feet.

Edward Pauson, who for the past four years has been connected with the development of the W. K. Oil Company's property on section 2, 20.13, will leave on the 5:30 train to take up his permanent residence in San Francisco, where he will be connected with the Pauson Company, electricians. He is being relieved by Phil Dauben-speck, who was formerly connected with the company. Up to about eighteen months ago, Daubenspeck was in charge of the W. K. property and is perfectly familiar with its management. Pauson had charge of the property for the past two years and under his supervision five wells were drilled and the property made one of the most attractive and profitable leases in the field.

The Castle, Coalinga, Monterey and La Vista Oil Companies, operating on section 4, have decided to go after a deeper sand. The Castle reached the first sand at 2575 feet, the Coalinga Monterey reached it at 3270, and the La Vista at 3200 feet. They all agree on reaching the second sand about 100 feet below these depths.

PLANS OF AGENCY.
QUORUM NOT PRESENT.
BAKERSFIELD, July 12.—While no legal meeting of the directors of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency went ahead with the discussions and talked over the plans for the proposed storage company in detail.

Representatives of a bond marketing house were present to confer with the directors in regard to the purchase of the proposed bonds. The directors decided to decrease the number of directors to twenty-five in order to insure a legal meeting every time call was given. At the present time, there is one director for every oil company reported in the Agency and there are 115 companies.

The matter of withdrawals from the agency could not be acted upon because the meeting was not legal, but it was stated that fourteen applications have been received by the secretary.

The storage plan provides for the organization of a $5,000,000 company to be known as the Oil Producers' Storage Company to purchase the big tanks from the Union Oil Company and construct 10,000,000 barrels of additional storage. Bonds will be issued to finance the project and the oil from the agency will be run into the tanks and stored until suitable marketing price prevails.

SAN EMILIO DISTRICT.
OIL CANYON COMPANY.
The Oil Canyon Oil Company is about to start its second well on the northeast quarter of section 20, 11-20, east of San Emidio along the foothills. The hole will be started with 18-inch casing. The Oil Canyon is drilling a mile and a half west of the old Wheeler-Bancroft well, the first in the foothills far east of Sunset. The Wheeler-Bancroft is now the G. R. Oil Company composed of Visalia people.

The latter company has its hole down about 1600 feet, and is in a brown shale with prospects of bringing in a good well, according to latest reports. R. E. Graham, a Bakersfield oil man, has purchased a large tract of land east of an Emidio, and is reported to have a derrick up ready for drilling. In this district there are about a dozen derricks, although activity has not been very apparent.

Reubro Plans Work.
It is the Reubro Oil Company that has 140 acres in section 26, and forty acres in section 26, 20-20, McKittrick field, and is preparing to put more wells on the high gravity tracts. The Venice and Kern Realty and Oil Company is making steady progress in its San Luis Obispo well, and will soon have material on the ground for developing its 2700 acres of land in Ventura county. This is promising a large body of oil shale and sand being exposed on it. Fuel and water is plentiful, and the standard pipeline survey crosses the tract.

NO CLEW TO SLAYER.
The inquest held yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the shooting of J. A. Pressman, a wholesale liquor dealer of No. 218 East Ninth street, resulted in a verdict of homicide, the name of the slayer unknown. Capt. Plummer has placed a special detail of detectives on the case, but he said yesterday afternoon no important clew had been unearthed.

HAT BARRYMORE DIVORCE.

It is possible that at the proper time pending divorce action between Russell Colt and his wife, the actress, Ethel Barrymore, will be settled out of court, as it is probable that the name of a well-known lady woman has not dragged into public. Mrs. Colt has much of the spirit of her father, the talented, erratic Maurice Barrymore, whose contempts were the object of continual discussion in the theatrical world. The daughter married young the son of a wealthy Massachusetts family, who seems to have had little to commend him but his wealth.

NOTHER BIG STRIKE LOSS.

Word comes that the miners through the Irwin-Greenburg coal fields in Somerset county, Pa., held meetings of local on July 5 to take a vote on ending the strike that has been on for sixteen months. In every instance the miners voted give up the fight, as the International executive board of the United Mine Workers, in session at Indianapolis, voted to discontinue paying strike benefits. The board there directed Francis Veehan of the Pittsburgh district to call the strike leaders together and terminate the strike with recognition of the unions or concessions any kind. The vote of the locals followed, ending the strike, with no result except the enormous loss of wages, the exodus of more than $1,000,000 by the miners, besides large donations from sympathizers and, worse than all, the sacrifice of eighteen lives. The moral is obvious.

LESSON FROM THE JEWS.

What has preserved the Jews through ages and countless disabilities and has made them today—as they undoubtedly are—financial masters of the world? They have passed for over eighteen centuries through storms of persecution, which we would not the week and left them a few, governing people.

The Jews, less than any people on earth, have escaped from the ill of life in strong and drugs and suicide. Persecution has denied and steeled them, while their "end" isolation during the Dark Ages has made them resourceful.

For eighteen centuries they were confined where they were considered the meaner of life—trade and usury; while the Jew, soldier and yeoman looked on the humble Jewish trader as an inferior sort of creature. Finally, trade came to its own as the moving power of the world, and with it the Jew, who had served centuries of apprenticeship in the despised of shopkeeping.

How often do we find a Jew today engaged in hard manual labor or enrolled in the ranks of the hoboes? Their long period of passive resistance taught them to use their brains, while the big war lord was using his muscles or working for social position. Now the descendants of the secular war lord are doing the hard manual work of the world, while the descendants of the trader direct their operations from office and counting-house, or as heads of banking institutions. In a no longer hating world the aristocracy will be composed of the best shopkeepers. All who have at heart the future of the American people may point a moral for our children in the development of the Jews.

A SQUALID TRAGEDY.

Emotionalism bears the same relation to honest emotion, as sentimentality does to sentiment, or the false to the true. Nobody wishes to see sentiment and emotion banished from the hearts of men and women. Justice herself has to reckon with these two great qualities, which humanize the sternest judge and temper the severest sentence. But emotionalism and sentimentality, the favorite weapons of the weak, while they can undoubtedly sway a jury unscrupled in the hard logic of the law, do not and must not have any influence in thwarting the impartial administration of justice.

A rather squalid tragedy has been dragged up from the purgatory of squalid life in Sault Ste. Marie and invested with a spurious glamor not warranted by the facts of the case. An Italian woman of the peasant class cleaves in two with an ax the skull of her sleeping husband, after living with him for fourteen years and bearing him four children. Some of the time, however, she had been living with another man and this fact started trouble between husband and wife. The woman is sentenced to death on indisputable evidence of her guilt, but, on account of her sex and her children and approaching maternity, is recommended to mercy by the jury.

Here the case might very well have rested. There was not one chance in a thousand of the woman being hanged; the sentence, on the jury's finding, would no doubt have been commuted to life imprisonment. If she escaped the gallows for the sake of her womanhood, the imprisonment naturally follows, to curtail her handiness with a bloody ax. The emotionalists and sensation-mongers, however, were not content with so unthrilling a finale. They are attempting to make a second Jael or Charlotte Corday out of a commonplace and unromantic criminal. The fatherhood of the unborn child is more than doubtful; therefore the ingenious plea, that the husband was attempting to drive the woman into a life of shame, is less than convincing.

In attempting to judge the standard of life and morality among the ignorant and primitive peasantry of Italy by the high standard prevailing in the average American home, the women of this country are misapplying their sympathies. This is proved by the fact that no resident of Sault, even though of Italian extraction, has shown any disposition to champion the cause of the murderers. The most passionate protests against her punishment come from those who are farthest away from the scene of the crime.

As a matter of fact their too sentimental protests are making the act of clemency harder instead of easier for the Governor-General of Canada. While Earl Grey would not doubt have decided on the recommendation of the judge and jury, to commute the death sentence on this uninteresting female prisoner, he might object strongly to the imputation of having been forced into such a course by the hysterical cries of lovers of the emotional. Let mercy be shown her for her sex and her children, but let not her mercy be saturated with the sob mucus of cheap sentimentalism.

"I want to call your attention to another thing. I want to be quite candid with you. In spite of the fact that we Republican members of Congress got the average state of mind in the country at home came within a few hundred votes of turning us all out; and the reason for that was this: It is fifteen or sixteen or more years ago since they knew what free trade or reduced protection meant. A man does not vote until he is 21. The average expectation of life of a man having reached 21 years is somewhere around 42 years, and so 31 years would represent the age of the average voter, and the average voter represents the average state of mind in the country. And it is the average state of mind of the country that is the voice of the people; and to that we must bow, right or wrong. It is now more than a decade since they have had an experience of insufficient protection, and they have got to have their experience. As sure as the sun shines, if you take the protection off of cloth and manufacture goods that is necessary to equal the cost of the difference of labor here and abroad, those people in the course of a year or two will learn for themselves the folly, shortsightedness, and the impossibility of government by the Democracy, and they will come hurrying back to the Republican party. So I have no fear as to the ultimate result, but I fear for my people and the hunger and want and privation they will have to pass through before they learn the full value of your false promises and your impracticable theories."

THE WOOL SCHEDULES.

The schedules in the tariff laws on both wool and woolen goods have been the objective point of continuous attack in Congress and in the newspapers by all Democrats and by some Republicans. The early utterances of President Taft against the tariff on manufacturers of wool have been extensively quoted, although further investigation has caused the President to revise views which were based upon misrepresentations made to him of the profits derived from the manufacture of woolen goods. The raw wool industry of this State, as well as that of Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana, would be disastrously affected, if not utterly prostrated, by a reduction of the tariff on raw wool from 12 cents per pound to an ad valorem duty that would be equivalent to 3 cents per pound. But so far as woolen manufactures are concerned California has none to be affected by it. The exactions of the labor unions have closed the woolen mills of this State, and the interest that The Times has in advocating a retention of the present wool schedule is its interest in the general prosperity of the country which will be promoted according to fair play and a square deal "to the woolen manufacturers of the Eastern States."

The truth is, as appears from statistical information carefully gathered by Congressman Butler Ames of Massachusetts and by him submitted in a recent speech in the House of Representatives, that there is a very narrow margin of profit for New England woolen manufacturers, and that the inevitable result of the proposed Democratic reduction in the wool schedules would be to close most of the woolen mills.

The sale of woolen goods made by one of the most prosperous mills in Massachusetts amounted for ten years ending January 1, 1911, to $13,301,422.62. The profit on these sales was $416,335.18, or 3.14 per cent. Congressman Butler Ames aptly remarks that, "if their money had been placed in a savings bank, these manufacturers could have sat idly by and twirled their thumbs and got more out of their investment than by working every day in the year and lying awake nights thinking how to cheapen some process."

In the New England towns the wages of operatives have been raised three times to meet the increased cost of living. They were raised 10 per cent. in 1895, 10 per cent. in 1905 and 10 per cent. last year. The protection granted by the tariff on woolen goods goes mostly to the operatives, whose hours of labor were changed by law from fifty-eight hours per week to fifty-four hours per week.

The difference between the wages paid operatives in the United States and in Europe is 230 per cent., while the cost of living in this country is only 152 per cent. greater. Yet the living of the American operative is regulated by a higher standard. He is housed better, fed better and clothed better than the foreign operative and his children are better educated.

If the wool schedule should be revised downward woolen goods made in European

A "Come Back."

mills would be sold cheaper than American-made goods. The New England manufacturers would be compelled either to meet the cut in prices or to close their factories. If they lowered prices they would be compelled to lower the wages of their operatives, for business now conducted at a profit of 3.14 per cent would then be conducted at a loss.

Congressman Ames, in the course of his able speech, addressed the Democratic members with some apt and unanswerable remarks. He said:

"I want to call your attention to another thing. I want to be quite candid with you. In spite of the fact that we Republican members of Congress got the average state of mind in the country at home came within a few hundred votes of turning us all out; and the reason for that was this: It is fifteen or sixteen or more years ago since they knew what free trade or reduced protection meant. A man does not vote until he is 21. The average expectation of life of a man having reached 21 years is somewhere around 42 years, and so 31 years would represent the age of the average voter, and the average voter represents the average state of mind in the country. And it is the average state of mind of the country that is the voice of the people; and to that we must bow, right or wrong. It is now more than a decade since they have had an experience of insufficient protection, and they have got to have their experience. As sure as the sun shines, if you take the protection off of cloth and manufacture goods that is necessary to equal the cost of the difference of labor here and abroad, those people in the course of a year or two will learn for themselves the folly, shortsightedness, and the impossibility of government by the Democracy, and they will come hurrying back to the Republican party. So I have no fear as to the ultimate result, but I fear for my people and the hunger and want and privation they will have to pass through before they learn the full value of your false promises and your impracticable theories."

UNCLE WALT.
The poet philosopher.
He sat in comfort in the shade, and exercised his nimble jaws. This world much better might be made if he were asked to frame the laws. It jarred him when he looked around, to see injustice everywhere; and to his ears there came the sound of people wailing in despair. He had a gentle, under heart that ached for those whose lives were dull, the martyrs of the busy mart, the victims of the money power. For all who suffered, he had sighs; he stood up for the poor man's cause; and if his countrymen were wise, they'd call on him to make the laws. And thus, with dream and idle boast, he "The hour down, one by one; and, tied up to a hitching post, his horse was standing in the sun. His horse was swearing at the flies in language that the ponies use, and rubbing its afflicted eyes, and stamping till it lost its shoes. His sounding schemes I don't endorse; that sort of man I most despise who mouths big theories while his horse is scrapping with the doggone flies."

PREVENTION OR CURE.

The air that we breathe is filled with elements of both disease and of healing, and the problem of separating them, of banishing the one and utilizing the other, is still a problem. Generally, it is known that living outdoors is the best of remedies for persons afflicted with tuberculosis, but the specific qualities which distinguish good air from bad air are as yet almost unknown. The ancient theory of carbon dioxide has been discarded by the doctors and has been succeeded by a multitude of hypotheses. One physician favors a cool atmosphere, another a dry atmosphere, and a third a humid atmosphere as a curative specific for certain diseases. There are advocates of motion, of electrification and of ionization, and all doctors agree that freedom from organic impurities, freedom from bacteria and an abundance of ozone are qualities which differentiate good air from bad air.

While the problem remains unsolved, the sick man is uncertain as to whether he should use an ozone machine, a humidifier or an electric fan, and there is even before him the proverb, "Who shall decide when the doctors disagree?"

The advantage which a Los Angeles invalid possesses is that he can avail himself of any of the remedies of any school of medicine without going near a doctor. There are no organic impurities here in the air of either mountain, seaside or valley, and such impurities as are liberated when tourists from Chicago unpack their trunks are seized by our vigilant, home-made, healthful germs and eaten up alive. Eastern bacteria journeying West in search of victims are arrested at the State line, hurried down the Colorado River and dumped into the Gulf. No ozone machine is needed, for, from Yuma to Santa Monica, from Santa Barbara to San Diego, on the mountain tops and in the

VENEZUELA'S DANGER.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

Grave danger threatens Venezuela and American interests therein from the attempted reassertion of ex-President Castro of the reins of power. Since his forcible expulsion a few years ago Venezuela has been peaceful, resulting in much economic progress, and the country's trade with the United States has been of steady and generous proportions. Note the Bureau of Statistics figures of that trade since 1908:

Fiscal Year.	Export to Import from Venezuela.	Venezuela.
1908	2,555,863	6,725,184
1909	2,568,211	8,313,609
1910	2,797,210	6,701,352
1911 (eleven months)	2,474,700	6,451,969

The figures for 1911 (eleven months) indicate that by June 30 last our exports to Venezuela reached a total approaching, if not exceeding, $4,000,000, with the imports probably at $7,500,000, a total trade in 1911 of $11,500,000, or very nearly $1,000,000 a month the year round. Right there the United States has a quite large interest in the peace and prosperity of Venezuela, to say nothing of the heavy American investment interests in that country.

In passing, it may be profitably noted that almost our entire imports from Venezuela are of needed raw materials and enter the United States free of duty. In 1910 the dutiable imports only amounted to $294,842, out of $6,701,352 total imports (chiefly coffee).

Area and Population.

But few of us have any real idea of the great size of Venezuela. It covers an area of 923,243 square miles, or some 40,000 square miles more area than is embraced in the Territory of Alaska, and nearly four times as large as California. Its population is about the same as that of California, 2,500,000.

Venezuela is composed of thirteen States, one Federal district and four Federal Territories. The names of the States are Aragua, Bermudez, Bolivar, Carabobo, Falcon, Guairico, Lara, Merida, Miranda, Tachira, Trujillo, Zamora and Zulia. The capital of the country is Caracas, with a population of 85,000.

Topography and Climate.

The coast line of Venezuela, extending from east to west, from the delta of the Orinoco to the boundary of Colombia, is 1584 miles in length. Venezuela comprises the plains of the Orinoco basin, in continuation of the Amazon Valley around the mountains of Guiana, partly separated from the Caribbean Sea by the northeast range of the Andes. These plains are traversed by many rivers, the main river being the Orinoco.

The mountain system of the Andes extends north and east into Venezuela from Colombia. Between the north and east is the low country of Lake Maracaibo basin. The country east of this basin is an extensive mountain tract, some of the peaks reaching above the limit of perpetual snow. These mountains form a double range, with fertile valleys between. There are other mountain ranges in the south and east, the highest peak, the Sierra Nevada de Merida, having a height of 15,400 feet.

Lake Maracaibo, in the extreme northwest, has an area of 8392 square miles (an inland sea) and is connected by an outlet, eight miles wide, with the Gulf of Mexico; the waters of the lake and lake together forming an inland waterway that penetrates the country more than 300 miles.

The climate is tropical and very hot in the valleys, the regions of the lower Maracaibo basin being the hottest found on the western continent. Above an altitude of 2000 feet the climate becomes temperate and at 7000 feet it is really cold. Much of the mountainous and plateau country has an elevation between 5000 and 7000 feet. The mean temperature at La Guayra is 82 degrees; at Caracas 77 degrees; but at Merida 61 degrees.

Communications.
With only 625 miles of railroad the chief channels of intercommunication are the rivers. There are regular steamboat lines up and down the Orinoco and a great deal of short-distance travel is accomplished by small craft. There is steam and cable communication with Europe and the United States. Wagon roads and mule-paths connect all the interior towns with the capital.

Government.
The government of Venezuela is a federal republic, having a President elected for six years, and a Congress of two houses. The government is modeled after that of the United States.

Religion and Education.
The state religion is Roman Catholic, but all other religions are freely tolerated. There are government universities at Caracas, Valencia and Merida. There are also, chiefly at Caracas, special colleges, seminaries, military schools, normal schools, a national library, museum and observatory.

Venezuela possesses great possibilities, given a continuance of law and order. American friendship and government without graft, neither of which would be possible under another Castro, reign.

Second Bridegroom: Rather; she's a grass widow and he's a vegetarian.—(London Opinion.)

Others Like Him.
"Sir, are you against the railroad power?" interrupted the man in the audience.
"I am!" shouted the Socialist orator.
"Tut! you're traveling on a pass right now!"

A Strange Held.
"What's the trouble?" inquired the judge.
"This lady lawyer wants to make a motion," explained the clerk, "but her gown is too tight."—(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

The Inspirational Point.
George: Didn't you notice that I pressed your foot at the dinner tonight?
Maize: Why, it wasn't my foot you pressed: Oh, George, I wondered why mamma was smiling so sweetly at the minister!—(Michigan Gargoyles.)

Innocence at Home.
"Charley," said young Mrs. Torkins, "didn't you say that man has something to do with first base?"
"One of the celebrities."
"Well, Charley, dear, you must forgive me for being forgetful. Does he sing it or play it?"—(Hartford Times.)

Couldn't Wait.
Salvation Lassie (whose laddie is on top of the bus): You'll get my fare above.
Conductor: Sorry, miss, but I can't wait till I get there!—(Everybody's Weekly.)

home on Normandie avenue with a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Coker of San Francisco. The event was planned in celebration of their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary. Pink and white roses were used to adorn the rooms. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. William Coker, Mrs. Ella M. Bushnell, Mrs. W. Bushnell, Mrs. Addie Gilbert of North Dakota, Mrs. Grace W. Law, Miss Betty Law and A. A. Bushnell. Mr. and Mrs. Coker have been guests at the Fremont Hotel.

Month's Outing.—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Burton of Ardmore avenue will leave next month for a four-weeks' outing at Lake Tahoe.

From Piedmont.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Logan of Piedmont are visiting in this city, Catalina and Long Beach. Mr. Logan is a prominent stock and bond broker.

Approaching Wedding.—Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Von Aalen for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Helen, to Harry Walsh, which will take place Saturday at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. M. Hansen of Franklin avenue, Pasadena. Miss Grace Walsh, sister of the bride, will assist as maid of honor. Harry Von Aalen will be best man.

Coming Home.—Miss Helen Warden, who has been the guest of Mrs. John Glass of Highland Park, Chicago, for three weeks, and for whom much entertaining has been done, left last evening for her home in Los Angeles.

RELATIVES SEEK ENGLISHMAN.—The relatives of Samuel Wood, formerly of Chaffin-Cum-Hardy, England, have appealed to the British Vice-Consul, C. White Mortimer, this city, for information concerning him. He wrote his relatives in England from Seattle last November, stating that he was leaving for Los Angeles, since which time nothing has been heard of him. He is 35 years of age, and unmarried, and Mr. Mortimer will be pleased to receive any information concerning him.

occurs in September. Through this division he will become master of several millions.

Rindge was recently graduated from Harvard University and one year ago the date for the wedding was set. The bride is a graduate of the National Park Seminary, of Washington, and her bridesmaids were all classmates.

HIS WEDDING GIFT.—In the afternoon prior to the wedding Rindge arrived at the home of his bride. Against all the conventions on such matters he demanded to see Miss Hole.

Mrs. Hole related and permitted her daughter to come to the drawing-room. As she entered Rindge drew from his automobile coat a satin box and opening it drew forth a long, glittering and shimmering thing that seemed to be alive with fire. Miss Hole stood fascinated as young Rindge placed in her hands one of the most nearly priceless pearl necklaces in Western America.

It is a great five-stranded affair composed of hundreds of beautiful matched pearls, bearing on the front in pendant form six of the most perfect pearls that the great house of Tiffany has been able to collect during the last year.

the necklace is given at between $50,000 and $60,000.

Rindge is building a handsome home on Kingsley Drive, which will be completed in September. At that time he and his bride will hasten home to personally install their domicile.

THE BRIDAL GOWN.—The bride costume was an elaborate creation of Louis XIII. cream brocade satin, made en train, with trimmings of rose point. Over this fell a lace veil and the bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids. Miss Rhoda Rindge, sister of the groom, was charming in white tulle over pink satin. She carried the maid of honor bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Miriam and Florence Shimer of Milton, Mrs. Margaret Miller of this city, Miss Hilda Welch of Brea, Mrs. Miss Marian Cooper of Pasadena, Mont. Rod Miss Hazel Meyer of Ashland, O., were becoming gowns matching the imported rose shades which included the electric bulbs in the garden. These were fashioned of satin with an over-drape of chiffon shading from the palest of pink tints to the deep American beauty tint. Arm bouquets of roses matching the gowns completed the attractive arrangement.

The two little flower girls, Misses Laura and Marjorie Miller, wore dainty little frocks of sheer material and carried baskets of rose petals.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DEATH.

Mrs. Barnum, Long the Principal Owner of the Boston Dry Goods Store, Passed Away.
Mrs. Julia Sprague Barnum, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Valentine, in South Pasadena, aged 82 years. The deceased was the principal owner of the Boston Dry Goods Store, which was founded by her first husband, J. W. Robinson; she retained control ever since his death.

Some years after the death of Robinson, she married Mr. Barnum, who also died a number of years ago. Her children are Mrs. Valentine of South Pasadena, Mrs. J. K. Urquhart and Harry W. Robinson, of this city. The latter has been in Japan, and is now on an extended tour. All arrangements for the funeral have been postponed until his arrival, which will be about the close of the month. The deceased was a native of Brooklyn, Mass., and came to Los Angeles in 1881.

the housewife, and this will be the next step to be taken up by the various organizations.

A meeting will be arranged soon by the Votes for Women Club, to be held on the roof gardens of the Hamburger Building, or elsewhere. The idea of housewife gatherings is being taken up enthusiastically and promises to become popular. The women declare that English militant suffrage tactics will be taboo, and that no bricks or other similar arguments will be taken up to be raised down on those in the street, whose opinions may happen to differ from the opinions of those on the housetops.

Yesterday afternoon the chairman of the many city precinct organizations, met in Choral Hall, to discuss ways and means to carry on the campaign. Tomorrow afternoon a new suffrage organization, to be composed of delegates from the various suffrage leagues, will be formed in Choral Hall. This organization is intended to coordinate the work of the campaign in Southern California.

Tomorrow night the Civic Club of Precinct No. 3, will meet at the home of Mrs. M. E. Quarte, No. 5821 Monte Vista street, and Saturday afternoon Burr McIntosh will speak in Choral Hall at 2:30 o'clock.

On the afternoon of the 12th inst. "woman suffrage, and its relations to polygamy and other practices of the Mormon church," will be treated by David Evans, formerly of Salt Lake City, who has played no small part in the politics of Utah, in recent years.

A friendly debate, concerning women's rights to speak in public parks, was engaged in yesterday afternoon in Blanchard Hall, by Mrs. Marian Carlisle, teacher of vegetarianism, and Miss Ellen Gillen, office secretary of the Votes for Women Club. Mrs. Carlisle contended that the woman suffragists of Los Angeles do not constitute a political party, and that therefore they should be allowed to preach their doctrines in the parks without molestation from city officials.

Miss Gillen, although agreeing that suffrage is now a question of ethics, said that it is also essentially a political question, having to do with the welfare of the community. She said Mayor Alex. der has stood by the suffragists, and should not be censured because a civil ordinance prohibits discussion of political questions in public parks.

The judges of the 14th date was asked not to render a decision, as she is a tenant fearing an adverse decision, while knowing at the same time that she was right in the stand she had taken.

TY COBB HEADS
BATTING AVERAGES.

(BY A P. NIGHT WRITE TO THE TIMES)
CHICAGO, July 12.—Tyrons of the Detroit "Clu head" battlin' averages in the American League, according to the official averages up to July 5, made public today. Detroit, however, is only in second place in the batting averages, Philadelphia leading with .396, as against .300 for Detroit and .287 for Chicago. White of Chicago is Cobb's closest rival in the percentage column, having .424, as against Cobb's .410. White, however, has played in only sixteen games against Cobb's seventy-one.

Cobb leads with 127 hits, his nearest rival being Jackson of Cleveland, with 104. Cobb has also led in home games. Jackson also is Cobb's rival in the number of runs, having sixty-two against the Detroit player's seventy.

Represented by the City of New York

THAT old Indian hunter and former buffalo hunter, Fred DeLancey, is authority for the statement that there are plenty of deer on the north shore of the San Gabriel watershed this year.

If the search warrant were any help in scouring the slopes to find a better deer hunter than DeLancey, it would be. He is a grizzled, experienced hunter, a grizzled veteran used to pull down his old forty-five on many a prancing brave; has mined and prospected all the way from the Yukon to the Yukon from Canada to the middle of Mexico, and as an all-round stalker, tracker, and game scout, it is doubtful if he has many equals and certain that he is one of the best in the high art of trailing a buck.

frontiersman of early days, seems strange and almost unrecognizable now but one glance at DeLancey, as he sat on foot on stove, and pipe in hand; in stalwart, resolute figure of a man; still the same. He is a hunter, a tracker, of that which they themselves had not seen. There is an undefinable something about the man who has made him a successful hunter, a tracker, which he tells which defies description, but defines itself. One cannot but think that if an emergency had to be faced in which frontier conditions were involved, DeLancey's experience would be the guide of first choice.

As a pilot to sport about the San Gabriel watershed, there is no one to whom comes an invitation to join DeLancey. A buck—or a chance to

[illegible]

In company with Col. Fred C. Fennner, DeLancey owns an interest in the Big Horn mine on the north side of Old Baldy. It is a low-grade proposition, about $3.50 rock—but a world of it, and some day the concern will get a big stamp battery on it and then DeLancey will be a rich man. It will not do him much good; for he is rich already in the last thing he needs—the ability to get next to nature and enjoy life outdoors.

Fred was a wagon-master with Miles and a member of the famous "Red" long Sioux campaign when Custer was killed. It is a liberal education in the life of the Indians. In the evenings a man ever spent to get this old war-horse warmed up, telling of his adventures and the things he did. A certain young man of the writer's experience—red-headed he was—was a "four-year" warrior after he got in the office of that same stable belonging to the terse, intensely interesting and suspicious of frontier life. He fell from a horse and died. How the man's gray eyes would light up, flaring in the fire in underbrush behind him, the usual "Red" talk. He indicated this triumph of white brains over red, or that other day among the "Reds" when he was a "four-year" warrior's predatory instinct was urged forward by knowledge that he was helping to kill a "Red" warrior, but he had antelope on the plains of Laramie were giving up their lives that the dead "Red" would be able to buy his antelope. The tales he told of game plenty when he first gazed upon a scene that was a "Red" country.

BEST BALL PLAYERS OFTEN DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

SOME OF THE greatest ball players the game has ever known have been discovered by accident. The men are Ed Delahanty, now dead, probably the greatest and undoubtedly the hardest hitter who ever put on a pair of spikes; Amos Rusie, who many believe was the greatest pitcher ever in the game; and John Paul Wagner, twice All-Star and Ty Cobb's rival. Amos Rusie began his ball career with the old Grand Avenue team in Indianapolis, when Indianapolis was a member of the twelve club National League. This was back in the late 1880s, a pitcher, a powerful, husky young giant, who had a world of speed. The Grand Avenue had a large picnic with the other teams in the Indianapolis City League when Jack Glasscock discovered Rusie. Jack Glasscock was playing shortstop on the Indianapolis National League team at that time, and Jerry Rusie was holding down third base. Glasscock was captain of the team, and he heard of Rusie's pitching, and on Sunday took Delany and took him to the City League Park, where he was playing. Glasscock watched the youngster work, and both he and Jerry were so impressed that Rusie was taken down town after the game. The next day Rusie appeared at league Park in an Indianapolis uniform. The story of his career in the league is now baseball history, known to all fans. Rusie was a power, but his habits put him out of the game when he should have been in his prime. Ed Delahanty, the greatest of the Delahanty family, began on his home town of Cleveland, his home town. In 1886 one told the manager of the Wheeling (W. Va.) team that Delahanty was a great ball player. Some days later Delahanty received a letter offering him a trial with Wheeling. The youngster didn't have any money and no transportation was allowed, but he started for Wheeling and made his way there by riding freight trains and walking. He was an infielder, playing second base, and made good from the jump. In 1887 Philadelphia decided to give him a trial, and along in the fall of that year Delahanty made his major league debut, succeeding as a first baseman. As a big league second baseman he was man who was destined to become the best pitcher the game has ever known was not a brilliant success. Neither did he shine with the bat in his first year, as his average for fifty-five games was only .217. In 1888 he played fifty-four games and batted .267 for 322. He alternated between second base and left field, and in 1889 he went to left field and remained there until his tragic death. Hans Wagner, once his start in baseball to his brother, Al Wagner. Al was a good ball player, but every one thought Hans was too awkward to amount to anything on the diamond. Al was with Steubenville, owned and managed by George Moreland at that time, and Moreland wanted a pitcher. "Get my brother," said Al. "Can he pitch?" Moreland asked. "Well, he can throw a ball mighty fast," Al replied, and Hans was wired at Carnegie to report. His salary was to be $25 a month. Wagner took his way from Pittsburgh to Steubenville on a freight train. "HANS WAGNER AS PITCHER." Frank Bowserman was catching for Steubenville and Claude Ritchie also was a member of the team. Wagner pitched the first game, but after that they put him in the outfield. His first year was so big it was impossible to get a pair of baseball shoes in Steubenville to fit him, and the greatest ball player of all times played his first league engagement in his bare feet. The Steubenville team picked up Moreland wanted Al Wagner and wired him at Steubenville. Al had another job, so he sent his brother, Manfred, a shortstop, and although he had been playing the outfield, Hans switched to short. He made Steubenville a shortstop. Later the Wagner brothers went back to Moreland at Wheeling, W. Va., and then were sold to Capt. Kerr, at that time owner of the Pittsburgh Club. TY COBB BEGS FOR JOB. Edgar Barrows was then managing the Patterson, N. J., team and he wanted Wagner. Kerr thought to make the deal, but when Barrows explained it was Hans he wanted, Kerr presented him with the Flying Dutchman. Wagner made his big hit right there. Pittsburgh tried to buy him back, but he was sold to Louisville, and he broke into the big league with Fred Clarke in the Falls City. Al Wagner is now managing Wagner Brothers circus, while what Hans is doing is something every baseball fan knows. In 1904 Ty Cobb was begging for a chance with the team at Augusta, Ga. Con Strothers was managing the team. Strothers gave Ty a chance, and Ty was earned because he jumped into the air while running bases, knocked down a ball which had been thrown to catch him, and was called out for interference. He drew his release about ten minutes later. The next year Cobb got another chance with Augusta and made good. Owing to an arrangement Augusta had with Detroit, Cobb's former team was permitted to use Pitcher Eddie Cleotis, with the understanding Detroit was to get a good man at the end of the season. Cobb became a Tiger in the fall of 1905. In 1906 he didn't show any too much class and in the spring of 1907 he was traded to Cleveland for Elmer Flick, because the Detroit people said he was a disappointment. Cleveland refused to make the trade.

FIVE SQUADS OUT AT OFF-DAY, SHOOT.

Although there was no prize competition for guns or trophies shot for Sunday's trap shooting at the Venetian grounds of the Los Angeles Gun Club, the fun of shooting targets proved enough of a drawing card in itself to lure some five squads of scatter-gunners to Athletic Park, and those who went found unusually favorable conditions prevailing for good scores. The wind, which is usually so pronounced a feature of the Venetian shooting for once was off duty, and breaks mounted up several natches in consequence. Jim Dull, with his old Remington was the chief offender in the long run and high percentage line. He tore off the only straight of twenty-five breaks, and quit the morning's hundred with 82 per cent to his credit. Bob Bunsay the old war horse, was on the job also right close behind; who ever beats Bunsay is pretty likely to have the rest of the animals well named also. George Persinger, put aside the corn-sheller for the day, and came across with seventeen breaks out of his hundred. "Ty" Bruner the president of the club, fell to switching guns early in the game and speedily got his own goal. They all know the guy to be afraid of is the one gun guy from the hay mowers or caterpillar quacks; but nevertheless they all keep on dallying with this gun, and then with that, instead of mowing the one that fits and handles best. Next Sunday will be junk day, and the fine list of gun and medal trophies will be contested for in the regular twenty-five-bird events, which make it, when changing speed, the gear mimes, down the clutch pedal again quickly, and the gears will invariably come in at once without causing any jar upon them. When firmly in, the clutch should be let in gently to pick up the momentum the car has lost in the operation.

From present indications, the Indian manufacturers' tour, which starts from Indianapolis on July 12, will have a record-breaking entry list. The trip, which will practically be on a non-competitive basis, will be through Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri and will last ten days. A new motor ambulance has been placed in service by the police department of the city of Milwaukee. In a test run the ambulance stood up better than two ordinary touring cars which accompanied it, carrying checks and judges.

THAT'S LOVES INDIAN CULT

(Continued from First Page.) thought it wonderful. That had me on, and I began to see deeper and deeper into Eastern ethics, codes of morals, standards of living, theories of past and future existence, ideals and happiness. "I was most unhappy all last year, and I lay it to that Indian philosophy. The reasoning of the seers of the Himalayas and the Central Plateau—or so it seems to me—is just reasoning in a circle. It gets you nowhere. You simply cannot arrive. "I used to wonder if Nirvana was the ideal state. I'd come home tired. I'd think of Nirvana and its blessed inaction—and I thought it great. "Then I'd wake a jested American professor David Graham Phillips, and the dead sea of Nirvana seemed hideous to me. I wanted action—life, life, life! "I studied other philosophies. I believed as the plainmen believe, then I believed as did the dwellers in the mountain fastnesses. "I studied philosophies which began before Christ. I bowed alternately before the Shriners of Confucianism, Buddhism and Brahmanism—bowed merely speculatively and curiously, you understand—and I came right down the line to the last of India's great seers. "I got melancholy and depressed. "Oh horrors!—or some day I might get so that I should be afraid to look in a mirror. "That last was a very dreadful thought, so I just quit, and I haven't philosophized Indian-fashion since. "Reasoning in a circle certainly doesn't agree with a woman. At least I didn't agree with me. "Last year was fanned terrible. "Now, when I want a serious intellectual diversion, I ride on a roller coaster, go into the kitchen and make fudge, mow down a few tennis balls or take a long walk—and I am perfectly happy. "I'm just commonplace, but I'm human once more. "I still read, of course. I haven't lost my interest in books. I couldn't lose it. It is as much a part of me as my name. Of American authors I prefer David Graham Phillips. I know he is erratic, I know that he 'harks,' but I feel that he has the punch!"

When a Cadillac "30" driven by Wm. Bramlette lowered all former records between Los Angeles and San Diego yesterday morning, this car held the proud distinction of having won every road record in the state. The Los Angeles-San Francisco record and all other intercity marks belong to Cadillac

There is nothing in the way of endurance that this car has not established. It has annexed every record until nothing remains. We can only retire with honors and wait for another season. In conclusion we simply add—THE CADILLAC IN 1912.

learning, and expect to find fair traveling for the next 500 miles." The Krause party is following a course mapped out by L. L. Whitman, the famous transcontinental driver, who established a new Atlantic-to-Pacific record in ten days with a Reo thirty. The car being used by Krause is the same model with which Whitman established the longest American road record. The tour as planned will cover 8000 miles. After driving to New York the route will lead northward through Buffalo and across into Canada at Niagara Falls. From there the sights of Canada will be enjoyed. Crossing over into the United States at Detroit, several days will be spent at the Reo factory in Lansing, and then the nose of the sturdy Reo will be turned homeward for another drive across the Western States to California. This is the longest tour of the year and will attract much attention throughout the East.

STYLISH LOCOS BETTER THAN EVER

Manager Charles Cotton of Los Angeles Motor Company Ready to Show Machines Which Already Have Made a Stir on Auto Row by Their Stylish Appearance. To a long waiting list of "prospects," Charles M. Cotton, manager of the Los Angeles Motor Car Company, yesterday made known the arrival of the new 1912 Locomobile "Six" demonstrator. The car arrived Friday, was immediately given its trial spin through the city streets, and then placed at the disposal of possible purchasers. The demonstrator is a catchy colored car with royal blue body and a pure white chassis. It typifies the factory's idea of the most luxurious car ever turned out. More attention is given this year to that phase than to mechanical changes, though there are a number of ingenious innovations in the motor parts. Seats and backs are cushioned to a depth of ten full inches and the comfort obtained is likened to that of riding around in a parlor davenport. The seats are also arranged that the sides of the tonneau come high around the passengers, giving a suggestion of safety as well as added ease. The car has full flush side body. The handles and hinges are entirely hidden from sight. The fenders follow the wheels more closely than in previous years and are mounted on drop forged brackets, so securely that two men can ride on any one of them. The running boards are three inches wider than in past years and will carry trunks just that much larger. The inside of the tonneau doors are covered with tufted leather and the floor is protected by carpets and coconuts. From the inside no woodwork whatever can be seen. The beauty of line has been improved by doing away with the wheel house effect and making the front panel full with the side. This also increases the capacity of the gasolinetank. The car, ready for the road, weighs less than 4000 pounds. The first of the 1912 "30's" will be delivered in California.

REO TOURER PLUGGING ALONG.

KRAUSE, HIS WIFE, SON AND DAUGHTER KEEP MOVING. Car Makes Good on Cross-Continental Tour and Is Headed Toward New York With Cylinders Hitting Perfectly and With Crew of Tourers Happy.

F. C. Krause, who left Los Angeles less than two weeks ago in a Reo "40," to drive to New York, is half way across the continent, and is making very good time. He is accompanied by his wife, eleven-year-old daughter and sixteen-year-old son. His son is doing most of the driving. The sturdy Reo was in Salt Lake July 4, and left there on the morning of the 6th for Omaha. From Los Angeles the route was through Mojave, Goldfield, Ely, Tonopah and Millford. Krause overtook the Piedmont party in the Winston Stiff at Big Pine, and after a short visit went on his way. He left Salt Lake on the 6th. In a letter to Leon Shettler, Krause said: "We are having a delightful trip. The Reo is certainly doing wonderful work, and despite the fact that we have had all kinds of roads and some terrific heat, our only trouble has been one puncture. On two deserts we found a number of bad places, but as a rule the roads have been fair, and I can not complain. "We have met a few new machines, but needless to say, not many are taking any trips as long as that which I have planned. Our good time is due to the fine service of the Reo. It is taking us through without a falter. "We will leave Salt Lake in the

ACTS AND SCENES IN WOMEN.

It is well known that the most successful actresses in the world are those who are able to portray a wide range of emotions and characters. This is a quality that is often overlooked by the general public, who tend to focus on the physical appearance of the actress rather than her talent. The most successful actresses are those who are able to bring a sense of realism to their performances, and who are able to connect with their audience on a deep emotional level. This is a skill that is not easily taught, and it is one that is often the result of a combination of natural talent and hard work. The most successful actresses are those who are able to stay in character throughout their performances, and who are able to bring a sense of authenticity to their roles. This is a quality that is often the result of a deep understanding of the human condition, and it is one that is often the result of a long and dedicated career in the industry. # GREAT WORK NEARING END.

Highway Commission Report On Good Roads.

Sixty-eight Miles Remain to Be Turned Over.

Contraction Plan Outlined About Accomplished.

The County Highway Commission marked the expiration of its second term of office yesterday by sending to the county Supervisors an abbreviated progress report, stating that a complete semi-annual report could not be issued at this time because the data is not obtainable.

Since the books cannot be closed and balanced until the middle of this month, only a partial financial statement is made. The object is to show the condition of the work in hand on Monday last, two days before two members of the commission went out of office.

According to the report, practically the entire construction work outlined in the big county highway plan has been accomplished during the past year. The commission predicts that with facilities much better than they were twelve months ago, this work should be finished before the end of next year.

The report states that complete location surveys have been completed on the entire system of roads. This road mileage has been reduced by shortening and improving locations from 307 to 298.63 miles. The maps, profiles and cross-sections have been plotted in the office on 200 miles. Grades have been established preliminary to advertising contracts on more than 241 miles.

Only sixty-eight miles of highway remain to be turned over to the supervisors for advertising for paving. A great part of this mileage, the grading, tunnel work and bridges have been completed under separate contracts. Only one large bridge remains to be completed, that crossing the Southern Pacific at Tunnel station.

SHOWING IS GOOD.

There are now under construction, completed or advertised, 230 miles of macadam pavement; rock has been placed or completed on 130 miles of this, while twenty-four miles are being advertised or contracted for. The circumstances that delayed the work early in the year are declared to have been put back two months.

The Pacoima and San Dimas quarries are now in good condition, and private quarries are well able to supply large quantities of rock. The specifications in use now are declared to be practically the same as those of last year, with the exception that the bids are received on the unit price basis which the commission declares to be advantageous. The commission urges special attention to road maintenance, and cites the El Monte road as a highway needing attention.

In addition to the original $2,500,000 bond issue, $104,237 have been donated to the highway improvement fund, with bond premiums, which gives the county an average of $12,868 a mile for building the system. The bids of the contractors are declared to have become much lower since the men are getting more experience and can work more economically. Of the highway fund there still remain $1,552,237 to finish the work.

WANT BEST ROADS.

Marking the last day in office of two of its members, Martin C. Martin and J. D. Calvert, the County Highway Commission met yesterday morning with the newly-chosen members of the body, two of whom have already taken the oath of office.

After the session the new commissioners, D. K. Edwards and W. A. Gillette, who went into office yesterday, and Thomas Earley, who will succeed George H. Bixby on August 2, remained in the office for an earnest discussion among themselves.

"We are not ready to state our plans," said Edwards. "We want the best roads for the least money, and we shall work hard to get them."

"We've just begun to get acquainted with each other, about getting things what will be done; but we all want the vast county road project to succeed."

Gillette stated that although nothing had been done officially in that direction, it was highly probable that Bixby will be asked to resign the chairmanship of the commission during the remainder of his term.

"We want to study this thing out," he said, speaking of the road project, "and to reduce it to as scientific a basis as possible."

The organization of the new commission, with Edwards and Gillette in their chairs, is expected to take place today.

CHINESE GIRL MAKES SPEECH.

Oriental Miss Who Won Times Scholarship Talks on Missions in the Land of Her Birth.

COVINA, July 12.—The Pacific branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, embracing the territories of California, Nevada and Arizona, was in session here today, with the Methodist Church filled with distinguished workers from every portion of the Pacific Coast. The principal speaker of the evening was Miss Margaret Chung, a Chinese girl, whose scholarship to the University of Southern California was recently won in a contest carried on by the Los Angeles Times. Her address was an inspiring call for the furthering of the work of spreading Christian influence among the Orientals.

In the afternoon the speakers were Mrs. J. F. Coburn on "North India," Rev. C. A. Ketter on "The Influence of the Society on the Church," Mrs. Belle T. Anderson, "Our Obligations," a reading by Mrs. J. D. Reed was entitled "The Call of the East." In the evening Mrs. Eva Brandt, a missionary from Seoul, gave an address in the costume of the native of that country. Others participating were Mrs. C. E. Brown, who presided; Mrs. Lulu M. Frey, Mrs. F. D. Mather, Rev. B. A. Johnson, Mrs. J. L. Hooper and Mrs. H. T. Chew, the latter having charge of music.

RIVERSIDE, July 12.—As next Saturday will be the last calendar day of the Superior Court of this county before the two months' vacation commences, Judge Denmore is making all possible endeavor to clean up the docket as nearly as possible before the vacation of the court.

Yesterday he granted three divorce cases from the records by granting final decrees of separation to three waiting people who adjured that they were ill-mated in matrimony. The decrees were granted to Judson N. King from Myrtle D. King; to Thomas H. Henson from Flora Henson; to Myra E. Hull from John N. Hull.

There is sufficient business on the various calendars to keep the court grinding all the week on the cases assigned for this time, and in addition to these are already filed for probate and cases to come up at the final call of the calendar Saturday morning. For the past two months Judge Denmore has been assigning causes for hearing far in advance, so that all of the available time for hearing suits is taken up on the calendar.

A victory for the prosecution of the alleged dynamiters was scored yesterday when Judge Bordwell ruled the motions to quash the indictments against the McNamaras, and against the affidavits presented by the labor union attorneys in support of the same. The decision clears away the perfunctory matters attendant on the prisoners' pleas.

Immediately after the court rendered its decision, the prisoners, John J. and James B. McNamara, were called to the bar to enter their pleas. Capt. Fredericks read the contents of the twenty indictments, involving the alleged dynamiters, and a score of employees. The remaining indictment involves John J. McNamara alone and charges him with the dynamiting of the Jewellville iron works.

QUESTIONS AT ISSUE. The questions at issue were whether the court would entertain the motions of the labor-union attorneys to quash the indictments, and whether the court would entertain motions of the prosecution to strike out portions of the defense's motion to quash, and the affidavits in support of the same.

Attorneys Darrow, Davis and McNutt consumed two days arguing for the defense. Dist. Atty. Fredericks and Asst. Dist. Atty. Ford took the same length of time for the prosecution. The matters were then submitted, and after a day's consideration, Judge Bordwell ruled for the prosecution.

If the motions of the labor union attorneys had been sustained by the court, new indictments would have to be prepared against the prisoners and the grand jury and District Attorney's office put to a great deal of additional work.

The question of setting a date for the trial was taken up by Judge Bordwell in open court. The District Attorney and the labor union lawyers were unable to decide on a date agreeable to both. Attorney Darrow suggested that the case go over tomorrow, when Joseph Scott, one of the attorneys for the defense, will return from San Francisco. Meantime, representative of the prosecution, and defense will meet the judge in chambers and discuss the proposition.
